

Nantifan Barn

There is magic in the air in Llanddeusant with legends like the "Physicians of Myddfai" and the "Lady of the Lake". Take a short drive (or a leisurely walk) to the bottom of the Black Mountain then the gentle mountain path to Llyn Y Fan Fach and experience the breathtaking views. Don't forget your picnic to eat by the lake near the summit.

For more breathtaking views take the Rhandirmwyn road from Llandoverly after visiting the heritage centre, to the foothills of the Cambrian Mountains where after passing through the village you climb to Llyn Brienne the magnificent man made dam, at its finest in the spring after the winter rainfall. After stopping to admire the views carry on to Tregaron and turn left to Lampeter where you can have lunch or shopping, returning via Llandoverly and Llangadog.

Nantifan Barn is maintained to the highest standards as we live within ½ mile at the farm house. We are available to make sure you have the very best holiday and can give you advice on the area. We let the property throughout the year on weekly or short break terms.

Nantifan Barn

Nantifan Barn is a unique non smoking self catering holiday cottage of the highest quality. It is well equipped, luxurious and the views are spectacular. Visit our website to view the accommodation which includes two double bedrooms one with on-suite and one twin bedroom. It is suitable for six adults plus a cot, see current rental prices and availability.

It is situated in the heart of the Towy Valley and the National Parks Brecon Beacons. Llanddeusant is situated 5 miles from Llangadog and 15 miles from Llandovery. A ten minute drive and you are immediately joining the A40.

The property will appeal to everyone and is a walkers and cyclists paradise. For active people it is like no other with high tops, dark lakes and wide open countryside full of wildlife, fresh air and spectacular views and local footpaths to explore. You can enjoy peace and quiet with gentle country walks.

Nantifan is also very much suited to young families. As parents of young children ourselves we understand the impossible task of finding suitable accommodation – no need to keep the noise down at Nantifan your nearest neighbours are our very own welsh mountain sheep. You can also enjoy a private barbecue without being overlooked. The setting is ideal for romantic breaks and getting away from city life.

The property has exposed beams, stone walls, slate flooring all the traditional characteristics of a barn and is homely and welcoming. There is a log burner with logs supplied. Glass doors on both sides of the fireplace lead to patios with spectacular views.

The TV has a Sky receiver and DVD player, dvds are available as well as books about the area and the Welsh Language. The property has prints by local artists (Donna Cranshaw) of local landscapes and animals. The modern facilities include a fridge and freezer, dish washer, washing machine and dryer.

Red kites are a frequent sight of daily life in this part of the world. There is even a kite feeding station near the Cross Inn pub approximately two miles away (walking distance by footpath). A pub lunch can be enjoyed then a visit to the kite feeding station and then a slow romantic walk back to the barn where you can relax in front of a roaring fire. For that extra special evening meal the pubs and restaurants around Llandadog, Llandeilo and Llandovery are highly recommended.
